

Unit 4 — Australia and New Zealand

Track E • Klasse 10 • Niveau E

Niveau E

1. Reading

Read the text, then answer in full sentences.

Australia is a continent of about 26 million; New Zealand is two main islands of about 5.2 million. While both share British colonial history, Indigenous languages are visible on different scales. In New Zealand, te reo Māori is widely audible in news, cafés and government — kia ora is the everyday hello. In Australia, hundreds of Aboriginal languages survive, often more locally audible than nationally so. Place names like Wagga Wagga and Wollongong preserve those languages in plain sight, even when the city itself looks British.

2. Practise

1. Match: kia ora → hello; whānau → family; iwi → tribe.
2. T or F: NZ has c. 5.2 million people; Australia is less populous than NZ; Wagga Wagga has a Wiradjuri origin.
3. Build 4 sentences comparing AU and NZ on language, geography, population, and Indigenous visibility.

3. Write

Comparative portrait, 200 words. Compare Australia and New Zealand past stereotypes. Use 2 comparatives / superlatives + 1 whereas + 1 kia ora or Indigenous place name in context.

Lösungen Controlled. 1. all true.

2. T, F (Australia is more populous), T.

Productive. 3. Open.

T1. kia ora; about 5.2 million; hundreds of Aboriginal languages; Wiradjuri.

T2. ~26m vs ~5.2m; British colonial; widely audible incl. news / cafés / government; often more locally audible than nationally.

T3. hello / extended family / tribe / Wiradjuri (place of many crows).

T4. Open.