Niveau G+M

1. Reading

Read the text, then answer in full sentences.

Whitehorse was named after the white-foam rapids of the Yukon River. The town was founded as a stop on the gold-rush route. It is now the capital of the Yukon Territory. Many Indigenous peoples — First Nations such as the Kwanlin Dün and the Ta'an Kwäch'än — were already living in the area for thousands of years before Europeans arrived. Today their languages are taught in schools alongside English and French.

2. Practise

1. Active → past passive: They named the town. → __; Settlers founded the city. → __.
2. Choose: Indigenous languages _____ (speak / past passive) for thousands of years.
3. Build 3 past-passive sentences about a place's history.

3. Write

Region reflection, 120 words. Write about an English-speaking region (Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa) — its name origin, who lived there before, what languages are spoken now. Use 4 past-passive structures.
