

Unit 6 — Contemporary Short Fiction

Track G+M · Klasse 10 · Niveau G/M

Niveau G+M

1. Reading

Read the text, then answer in full sentences.

The note, which someone had pushed under the door at 3 a.m., was written in pencil on a small piece of card. The handwriting, which I did not recognise, looked tired. The card said: 'I'm sorry about the cat.' I read it three times. We do not have a cat. The cat, I realised, was someone else's idea of an apology — delivered by accident to my door, the kind of delivery that explains nothing but rearranges the room.

2. Practise

1. Defining or non-defining? The note (?) someone pushed under the door at 3 a.m. was written in pencil. (which one?)
2. Insert commas as needed: The handwriting which I did not recognise looked tired.
3. Build 3 sentences with defining + 2 with non-defining relative clauses.

3. Write

Literary response, 200 words. Read the extract. Answer: Who is the narrator? What is the conflict? What is the theme? Which one detail is doing the most work? Use 2 defining + 1 non-defining relative clause.

Lösungen G. 1. that someone pushed (defining, no commas).

2. The handwriting, which I did not recognise, looked tired. (non-defining, commas).

M. 3. Open.

T1. 3 a.m.; pencil on small card; the cat; speaker has no cat.

T2. pushed under the door at 3 a.m. by someone; three times; the apology was for someone else's cat, accidentally delivered; the kind of delivery that explains nothing but rearranges the room.

T3. 1. that / which (defining, no commas); 2. , which (non-defining, commas); 3. , which (non-defining); 4. whose (defining).

T4. Open.
